The price of the postal card is, of course, 1 cent; but, by paying those having the postal cards for sale 10 cents, and mailing the card to this office, the advertisement will be inserted under its proper head-line.

This will prove of great benefit to per sons desiring to insert "want" advertisements. Inquire for them at any of the Post-Dispatch suboffices, or in any place where postage stamps and postal cards are commonly sold. The manner of writing the advertisement is plainly indicated upon the card, so there can be no mistake.

TELL-TALE FOOTPRINTS.

They Caused Louis Phillips' Arrest and Conviction.

Louis Phillips, the printer arrested Tuesday at 2 a. m. by Officer Hough for trespassing, was fined $100 by Judge Morris. Hough was standing on Twenty-first and Market streets when he heard a police whistle. He ran to Walnut street, and a Mrs. Dubois of 2113 Walnut told him that a man had placed a barrel against a rear window and tried to effect an entrance. The officer saw footprints in the freshly fallen snow in the rear and he traced them over fences and through rear yards to Twentieth and Poplar streets, and there, crouching behind an old shed, he found Phillips. He made the prisoner compare his foot with the prints in the snow near the scene of the arrest, and Phillips admitted that they were his. He was brought to the yard in the rear of Mrs. Dubois' residence, and the footprints there corresponded with Phillips' shoe. The prisoner denied these were his marks, however, but Judge Morris concluded that they must have been, as at the hour the arrest was made it was snowing and there were no other persons to disturb that which had fallen on the sidewalks and in Mrs. Dubois' yard.

Phillips claims that he arrived in St. Louis only a few days ago from Lincoln, Neb.

MRS. RUDOLPH SURVIVES.

Lizzie Clark Gets Arrested for Holding an Equine Revival.

SALVATION ARMY GIRL.

While Afflicted With Excessive Religious Zeal She Invades Stables With Disastrous Results.

It seems too bad that excessive piety and a belief in the transmigration of souls should have brought trouble to any one— much less a poor Salvation Army girl—but Lizzie Clark, a soldier of the army, finds erself peering through the bars of a Third District police station cell for no other rea-At least this is what Lizzie claims. At least this is what Lizzle claims. It may be that her inspiration came from other sources than religious fervor, but this has not yet been legally proven.

The rubbers, cappers and hangers-on in one of the North Broadway sale stables were surprised about 11 o'clock at seeing a woman in the garb of a Salvationist walk into the place and without paying any attention to them proceeded straight to the stalls where some of the choicest "two for inve" horses in the market are kept. Choosing the most unfortunate of all the poor beasts she clasped her arms about the animal's neck and kissed its nose in the most affectionate way.

"Poor, dear horsey," she said as she hugged its battered old head to her breast, "does 'oo have a hard time? I love you so much. You are a good little horsey, arn't laughed, and down at the other end of the stable a mule brayed, but the woman kept on praying.

When she had finished her invocation for the saving of the horse's soul, she got up and went into the next stall and started the same thing over again. The stable people were afraid some of the animals would kick or bite her and they forced her to go away. She left without objection and walked up Broadway until she got in front of the Second District Police Court. There was a horse and buggy standing there and going up to the horse she put her arms about it and kissed it on the face.

"Sing with me, horsey," she said as she drew a hymnal from her pocket and held it in front of the horse's eyes, but no sound came from the animal.

"No, you won't. Well, I'll save you anyway," she went on, and then started to get into the buggy, presumably to drive away to some horse convent. when just then Officer Thompson showed up. He is not a believer in the saving of horses' souls. He rather prefers to save personal property to its rightful owner, so he put his big hands on the equine soul-saver and told her to come along.

"Oh, the devil's got me at last," the woman cried out to the crowd which gathered about her.
"I love this officer, but he is working for."

"Oh, the devil's got me at last," the woman cried out to the crowd which gathered about her.
"I love this officer, but he is working for the devil. He won't let me save the soul of that poor dumb brute; but I'll pray for him, anyway. Let us all pray for him, and for me, because he's going to take me straight to hell."

While they were waiting for "the chariot to hell" (as she called it—otherwise, the hoodium wagon) to arrive, she drew from her pocket some more hymnais and insisted on the crowd joining her in a service. They only laughed at her, and so she lifted up her voice all alone and sang.

"Jesus, Lover of My Soul," in front of a patrol box, waiting for the hoodium wagon, is something of a musical novelty, but she sang this and "Beulah Land," and three or four other religious songs.

When the wagon came, she was bundled, into it, blessing every one, particularly the horses, whom she insisted had just as fine a variety of souls as any one else.

She was locked up at the Central Station, charged with disturbing the peace, and from behind the bars came, in sad, low tones, the

STOLE A CASE OF SHOES.

Officers Quinlaven and Bartley of the Third District detected Ed Wright and Walter Burrows, both colored, carrying a case containing twelve pair of shoes worth 23, stolen from the George F. Liouis Opel, Vice-President of the shoedirm, scured a warrant against both men.

The first affirmed the decision of the United States Circuit Court in the case of William Morgan vs the United States of America. Morgan, who is clerk of the United States District Court here filed a claim for some $1,500 special fees which the defendant at Washington, D. C., disallowed. Court and was given judgment for the full amoutn. The Gevernment appealed, but the decree was sustained.

The other opinion reversed the decision of the United States Circuit Court of the Indian Territory in the case of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association vs R. I. Bond. John Ellis & Co., an Indian Territory firm, owed the brewing association $10,000, for the payment of which Bond became surety. Bond only paid $1,479.65. The brewing association sued for the balance and the defendant, Bond, demurred that it was against the law to ship beer into the Indian Territory and that, therefore, his contract with the plaintiff was void. On the hearing of the case the demurrer was sustained and judgment rendered in Bond's favor.

GOULD FEARS KIDNAPPERS

Special to The Post Dispatch.

PARIS, Mo., Feb. 20.—A strange contingency arose in the Burnet murder trial yestrial yesterday afternoon, whereby Charles A. Burnett, charged with the murder of John Kirsh, came near retting his life and liberty before the case had been argued or a verdict returned. It arose from the intricacies of the Missouri criminal law, and caused Judge Roy no little annoyance.

Just before Burnett began his own statement, word came that the brother of one of the flurymen, Wood Roe, bad led, and the Judge imparted the knowledge as tenderly as possible to the unsuspecting juror, who was so overcome with sief that a recess was taken until night.

The law provides for continuance in case a juror's wife or child the, but not in the case of a brother, yet rives the Judge power to detain him in the latter case, or permission to separate from the jury. This the Judge told him, also that he had the power to go, but that his going would nullify the proceedings and send Burnett home a free man, as the evidence was all in and the proceedings were a complete trial, and the Constitution provided that no man should be tried a second time for the same offense. The immense crowd avaited the reply in breathless silence, for a man's life hung on on his aye or nay. He saked for time, and his answer is yet in doubt. The court adjourned until to-day.

This is the only instance of a like nature in the history of Missouri law. His Two Little Sons Are Attended by a Body Guard.

Two Rough Men Overheard Discussing the Plan in the Woods Near the Goulds' Winter Cottage.

A PLOT TO ABDUCT KINGDON.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—George Gould's two little sons, Kingdon and Jay, are not now allowed out of the house without a body guard. They have been staying this winter at Hill Tops, the Goulds' winter cot-tage at Lakewood. The body guard, a big, ble-bodied man servant, has been in at endance since Saturday.

Mr. Gould has reason to believe that able-bodied man servant, has been in attendance since Saturday.

Mr. Gould has reason to believe that a plot has been laid to kidnap his eldest son, Kingdon. The object of the proposed kidnapping is not indicated by the facts in Mr. Gould's possesison, but the supposition is that if the plot were successful the boy would be held for ransom.

A description of the would-be kidnappers is in Mr. Gould's possession, and there is a young woman in Lakewood who is sure that she could recognize at least one of them if she should see him again.

Hill Tops is on the very outskirts of Lakewood. It is the last cottage within the village limits, on the old road to Freehold. That portion of the road which intersects Lakewood is called Madison avenue. To the north and west of the Gould cottage a plne forest stretches away for a mile or more in either direction. The Lakewood Golf Club has its club-house and links in a clearing in this wood, about a quarter of a mile back from the Gould premises. It was to the north of these grounds that the supposed kindnappers were seen.

A Mrs. Chester of this city is staying this winter at "The Towers," in Lakewood. She has an elderly woman with her as companion. In pleasant weather they are in the habit of taking long walks in the woods about Lakewood. A few days since in one of their rambles they had left the main road in the vicinity of the golf links and were following a winding path which took them into the very heart of the forest. They had gone but a short distance when they heard volces ahead and believing that they were nearing friends they continued on their way. The ground was hard, and the leaves were damp and dead in their path, so that their approach was almost moseless. Af a turn in their path they came suddenly on two rough-looking men. One of them was a big, thick-set fellow, with unkempt hair and beard. He wore a light-edoned overcost, which, though hadly worn, seemed to be a stylish cut, the easter than his companion, was freesed in a shabby, dark stift and had no top coat started to retrace their steps their footfalls would attract attention.

While they waited in suspense they caught fragments of the conversation:
"But how will I know which is the oldest?" the smaller man was saying to him with the beard.

"Take the one called Kingdon," was the reply. "That's the name of the oldest, and you can wait till you hear his nurse speak to him by that name."

The conversation was continued in a lower tone, and the women could only catch a word now and then. The only other complete sentence they heard was from the lips of the smaller man, who exclaimed, in a perplexed tone.

"That's just where the trouble comes in."

Mrs. Chester could stand the suspense no longer. She gave a little cough, which caused the men to turn suddenly. When they saw the women they started off into the woods, going in different directions. The man with the beard whistled a tune as he walked away. Mrs. Chester, with her companion, lost no time in getting back to The Towers, and Saturday she sent word to Mr. Gould of what she had heard and seen. Later, by invitation, she called at Mr. Gould's house.

The Gould children, whose city home is in the brown stone palace at Fifth avenue and Sixy-third street, spend all their winters at Lakewood. In the summer they go to Furlough Lodge, their summer place up in the Adirondacks, or travel abroad, as they did last year, when their fond paps was sailing yachts with the Prince of Wales.

Wales.

Kingdon is a sturdy, rosy-cheeked little chap of 7 years, and bears his mother's family name. Jay is a year younger, and was the special pride of Grandfather Gould, who left him an extra hundred thousand dollars in his will on account of his name.

JAY GOULD'S ESTATE.

Counsel Asks That the Referee's Report Be Sent Back for Revision. NEW YORK, Feb. 20 .- A motion has made by ex-Judge Dillon, counsel for the estate of the late Jay Gould, before Surroestate of the late Jay Gould, before Surrogate Fitzgerald to have the report of Referee David McClure, estimating the value of the Gould estate at $5,934,530, sent back for revision, with the object of having certain commissions and expenses deducted, so that the transfer tax might be reduced. This tax, on the original appraisement amounting to $600,000, is to be increased $200,000 in consequence of the reappraisement. The object of the motion is to have the tax computed on the residuary estate after deducting commission for the executors and trustees, expenses of administration and the life estate of each of the heirs. The Surrogate has reserved decision.

Tuesday evening.

She was petting and fondling her pet pug, a favored son of his race. Seated in a chair, beside the parlor window, she was unconscious of danger, and absorbed in her attentions to the pet. A friendless, hungry-looking brindle cur that looked as if he had been poiled and beaten until he had resolved on a bloody revenge, came slinking along the street. Climbing through the open gate he crowled stealthilly up the front steps of the Clear residence and glared about him as if in search of something to devour.

The savage animal viciously seized Mrs. Clear's fingers between his fangs, and badly lacerated them. She screamed and the members of her family rushed in. The number of persons frightened the intruding dog, and he ran out of the front door, which had been opened for his exit.

THE WOUNDS PAINFUL.

Immediate attention was given to Mrs. Clear's condition, and the mongrel's course was not watched. Dr. Felix Garcis of No. 2206. LONG-DISTANCE TELEPHONES Scheme to Connect St. Louis With the East and Northwest.

AN ORDINANCE IS WANTED.

Broker James Campbell Says the Bell Telephone Co. Will Furnish the Necessary Money.

s one of the local directors in the Bell Tele-phone Co. of Missouri, but one thing stands in the way of a long-distance telephone service for St. Louis. That one thing is an ordinance permitting the company to place its wires, within the limits of St. Louis, unerground.
"The company stands ready to-day,"

Mr. Campbell, "to give St. Louis a long-dis-ance telephone service to all the principal lities between the Atlantic and the North-tance telephone service to all the principal cities between the Atlantic and the Northwest. But owing to the peculiarity of the circuit and the fact that at some time the wires will have to come down and go under ground any way the company will not put in the long-distance telephone until the Municipal Assembly will grant it the right to go underground. Once given this right, the company will spend from a half to a million dollars and have the system working inside of six months.

General Manager Durant is in the East now, and it has been rumored that he had gone there to make arrangements to put in a long-distance service for St. Louis. When siked concerning this, Mr. Campbell said:

"There are no arrangements to be made. The American Bell Telephone Co. owns about 35 per cent of the stock in all the local companies throughout the country. It has an abundance of money to begin and finish any work it sees fit. The only arrangement is to get the permission of the Municipal Assembly to put its wires underground. It will then begin work at once, fill up that big building with apparatus and give the city the long-distance service it desires."

Members of the Municipal Assembly just at oresen's do not seem to know whether they have the right to grant such a franchise, owing to the litigation over subway conduits.

PLACED ON TRIAL.

Jury Being Selected in the Train-Robber Case.

STAFFORD COURT-HOUSE, Va., Feb -The trial of Charles a Morgan, alias Morganfield and C. J. Searcy, the alleged day. Stafford Court-house is more like a place where a train might be successfully neld up, than where the perpetrators of one of the most daring train robberies on record are to be tried. rescue.
The State claims that it has been defin itely ascertained that Morganfield is the head of a band of train-robbers, and has been concerned in several of the most successful affairs of the kind in the last few years. Among those present at the trial are: John A. Herring, Superintendent of Adams Express Co. at Philadelphia; W. S. Thomas, attorney for the company; Coi. Thomas Shay of Shay, Jackson & Co. of Clucinnait, senior counsel for Morgannield; State Senator Wm. H. Lime, Jr., counsel for Morgannield; David Herring, Assistant Thomas, Shay of Shay, Jackson & Co. of Cincinnati, senior counsel for Morganfield; State Senator Wm. H. Lime, Jr., counsel for Morganfield; David Herring, Assistant Superintendent Adams Express Co.; Hermann Witte of the detective force of Cincinnati, and Seymour White, Commonwealth Attorney for Stafford County, who represented the State in the extradition of Morganfield from Ohio, and who is conducting the prosecution of the train-robbers. The trip from Brooke to Stafford Court-house was quickly made. County Judge Ashton opened court, and then Capt: Daniel Murray Lee, a brother of ex-Gov. Fitshugh Lee, and nephew of Robert E. Lee, was sworn in as Deputy Sheriff. Morganfield, who is to be tried first, was then arraigned. He pleaded not guilty and the work of selecting the Jury was begun.

The robbery occurred on Friday, November 12, 1894, on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and. Potomac Rallroad at Aquia Creek, fitty-one miles from Washington, and the men secured $25,000 from an express car. One of the men, alleged to be Searcy kept off the entire train crew while the other man, claimed to be Morganfield, blew open the express car door with dynamite and ripped open the pouches he thought contained valuables or money, and, placing all the piunder in one pouch, threw it to his pal. Morganfield had forced the messenger and other men in the express car to turn over to him their weapons, which he contemptuously tossed out of the window, wanting to know if they were the best the company furnished its men. They held the' train for about twenty minutes and when they completed their work made the fireman uncougle the locomotive, which he only not the woods after sending the engine on a mad career in the direction of Quantico. Dr. L. P. Pohlman's office, 2501 St. Louis avenue, last night and notwithstanding the absence of the defendant and his attorney proceeded to hear evidence in support of Dr. Loftus' charges that Dr. Marks had violated the code.

Dr. Schlueter, a former Assistant Superintendent at the City Hospital, and a Mr. Bard, who is a reporter for a morning paper, testified.

Dr. Schlueter stated that during Dr. Daiton's term of office no accounts of cases or operations ever got into the papers, but that during the very first month that Dr. Marks took charge one of the daily papers printed a story concerning a case at the hospital. When Dr. Marks saw it in print, Schlueter said, he professed to be very much surprised. Witness thought Dr. Marks had given it out. Mr. Eard was shown several clippings from the paper on which he is employed, concerning cases at the hospital. He stated that he had written them and would vouch for their truth. In one of the clippings Dr. Marks was quoted as saying that news he had given out was in his official and not his professional capacity. At the conclusion of Bard's testimony the prosecution rested, and there being no witnesses for the defense, the hearing was declared closed.

Dr. Loftus was seen at his office, isos Washington avenue, this morning and asked if he thought the evidence he had introduced before the committee was sufficient to prove the defendant guilty of violating the code.

"Why, of course," said Dr. Loftus, with sufficient to prove him guilty. And the evidence introduced has only served to strengthen the case."

"Will Dr. Marks be expelled from the Medical Society?" the reporter asked.

"I don't know that." replied Dr. Loftus. The committee had a stenographer, you know, and as soon as he furnishes a typewritten trahscript of the evidence to Dr. Moore, the chairman, he will call Drs. Glasgow and Pohlman in consultation with him and they will decide on their report to the society. I hardly think they will get their report ready by Saturday night."

Supt. Marks of the City Hospital is greatly disappointed at Judge Klein's action in re-fusing his petition for an injunction against he committee.
"I don't know much about law," he said,

"but I am very much surprised at the action taken by Judge Klein. I don't know what steps I will take now, as I will have to consult my attorney first. One thing is certain, and that is I will not go before that committee, as I know it is 'packed.' I would have no objection to standing trial before the St. Louis Medical Society."

LABOR LEADERS AT WASHINGTON

Bills Which Federation Is Trying to Have Passed.

SEAMEN'S UNION MEASURE.

The Organization Wants to Abolish Penal Punishment for Violation of Their Civil Contracts.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.-Three that organization, Messrs. A. Feruseth and A. Strasser, are at the Capitol working for by the Seamen's Union and indorsed by representative McGuire of California, was yesterday signed by the President. Its effect is to abolish penal punishment of sallors for violating their civil contracts with shippers. The Seamen's Union has other bills upon which it hopes to secure favorable action at the hands of the next Congress. These bills are designed to sholish capital punishment on shipboard and to improve the standard of rations and quarters provided for sallors. It is contended that the seamen of the American merchant marine are treated with less consideration by the laws of the United States than are those under the jurisdiction of any civilized nation; that their food and quarters are poorer, punishments more severe and work hatder, and that scurvy is more prevalent among them.

Mr. Gompers is working particularly for the bill to create a commission to investigate the conditions of labor and agriculture and their relations to capital, which was introduced by Representative Phillips of Pennsylvania and favorably reported to the House by the Committee on Labor. He is hopeful that it will become a law, but finds it unexpectedly difficult to arouse the interest of members to a point which will impel them to active work for the bill.

The Federation has no special interest in the arbitration bill, Mr. Gompers says, because it applies to the railroad men only, but he hopes to see it enacted.

THE O'SHEA SUIT.

The Grain Inspector Claims the Mumford Certificates Were Forged.

The damage suit of the commission firm of W. R. Mumford & Co. of Chicago against Joseph M. O'Shea, Chief Grain Inspector of this Steel Grain Inspector of this State, occupied the attention of Judge Klein's court. The the attention of Judge Klein's court. The action is brought to recover $2,000 alleged to have been paid by Mumford & Co. to the J. D. Richland Grain Company of Kansas City on a shipment of wheat which was not delivered. The suit is based upon the alleged fact that certificates of inspection accompanied the bilis of lading. The defense is that the certificates are forgeries.

W. R. Miumford, who was placed on the stand late on Tuesdavi afternoon, completed his testimony on Wednesday. His evidence consisted in giving the details of the transaction between his firm and the Kansas City house. John Wiedmer, who is connected with the Gratiot Street Warehouse of this city, was put on the stand for the purpose of proving that the forms of the purpose of proving that the forms of the certificates used in the alleged transaction were similar to those issued by the Grain Inspector. THE EDISON COMPROMISE.

How the City Might Lose Considerable of Its Revenue.

The departure of President McMath the Board of Public Improvements and the other members of the Subway Commission for Jefferson City to appear before the committee in charge of subway measures, give color to the reports of propositions to com-promise the claims of the city against the promise the claims of the city against the Edison Illuminating Co. for 5 per cent of its gross receipts.

Chancellor W. S. Chaplin, Delegate O'Brien, Councilman Albert Arnstein and W. F. Saunders, private secretary of the Mayor, were the other members of the party. They went at the Mayor's expense, it is stated, Neither Mr. McMath nor the Edison attorney, W. B. Thompson, were communicative in regard to their conference, which preceded the departure.

The introduction in the Council of a bill to relieve the Edison and the Municipal companies of the obligation mentioned in ex-time.

It would be a case of exchanging a known for an unknown obligation. The Edison Co. owes the city, in cash it is claimed, 5 per cent of its gross receipts, or over $100,000. The gross receipts are increasing yearly, and there is promise of substantial revenue from this source.

On the other hand, the cost of putting the Edison wires underground is wholly problematical. The subway question awaits its solution.

lematical. The subway question awaits its solution. The city has not shown any desire to force or to permit the Edison Co. to construct a separate conduit, for, its wires. The desire of the taxpayers is for a municipal conduit.

In view of these facts, the obligation of the city to help the Edison bury its wires would seem to be a very hazy, indefinite quantity to exchange for $100,000 in cash and a permanent revenue. a permanent revenue.

Comptroller Sturgeon was not prepared to give figures to show by comparison how much the city would lose by such a bar-much the city would lose by such a bargain.

"A loss of 2½ per cent of the accrued claim of the city against the Edison Co. would mean a loss of $50,000 of prospective revenue." he remarked. "Of course, the city canot afford to give up anything to which it has a right. I am not prepared to say how much it would cost the city to assit the Edison Co. to bury its wires, nor whether the city could be made to contribute anything."

GEN. FARRAR'S SUCCESSOR

Democratic Sub-Treasurer Soon to Be Appointed. Within the next ten days a Federal office becomes vacant in this city which pays annually a salary of $4,500. It is that of As-annually a salary of $4,500. It is that of Assistant Treasurer of the United States, now filled by Bernard G. Farrar. Mr. Farrar was appointed March 3, 1891, and will soon have served four years, although he did not assume the deties of the office until March 23, 1891.

There are but three candidates for the appointment: C. F. Schulte, E. W. Knott of Kirkwood, Mo., and John J. O'Brien and very little interest has so far been manifested regarding Mr. Farrar's successor. The real object of ex-Gov. Francis' prolonged stay in Washington, however, is believed to be connected with this appointment.

HAYWARD MURDER TRIAL.

The Wife of Adry Haryward Now Takes the Stand.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 20.-Mrs Adry Hayward was a witness in the Ging trial to-day. Preceding her tesetimony Hor-ace L. Wells, paying teller of the city bank, ace L. Wells, paying teller of the city bank, and Louis E. Ireland were sworn. Wells testified to having paid Harry Hayward between $5,000 and $5,000 after Sept. 1, 1884, thus accounting for the defendant's possession of money that did not come from Miss Ging. Ireland was questioned by the defense at to Harry's calling at the flat on the day preciding and on the day of the murder. Mrs. Adry Hayward was then put on the stand.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Peb. S.—Mr. P. Bogdaroff, First Secretary of the Russian Legation, committed suicide to-day by shooting himself in the head at his home. No. 175 H street, in the fashionable part of the city. He had been sick for two or three weens and his suicide is supposed to be attributable to the suffering he had endured.

int event of to-day will be the of Miss Rossiling Buel, eldest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Buel, and Jorrest Hammet of this city.

It one of the most charming young tantes of the past season, is tall and light as a young poplar, with a winning ace of manner seldom seen in so young a girl, which has wen for her many friends during her short but successful reign in society. More than 2,500 invitations have been issued to this wedding, the ceremony of which will take place at St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. Dr. Messick, the pastor, officiating. This will be a violet wedding, the elarg rulls being covered with smilax and bunches of fragrant violets tied with violet ribbon, groups of growing palms arranged on either side of the chancel, a bower of smilax, ferns and violets covering the place where the bride and groom will stand during the solemn service which will make them man and wife. The bride will make them man and wife. The bride will be attended by her younger sister, who is still attending school; Miss Marie Buel as maid of honor, Misses Elia Sommers of Quincy, Ill., Mabel Green, Julia Moore and Butler Leggett bridemaids. The bride groom will be attended by Mr. Frederick Scullin as best man, Messrs. Cliff H. McMillan, Julius Boucher, B. Frank Shields and Mark Ewing as groomsmen. The ushers will be Messrs. Paul Hammett, John Wyatt, Taylor Stickney, Lawrence Boogher and Alfred Bowman. Three little of boys of 7 years will act as pages, the first of whom, little Rumsey Green, will carry the wedding ring, the other two, Masters Richard Buel and Walter Warner, carrying the cushions upon which the bride and groom will kneel during the ceremony.

ind Walter Warner, carrying the cusmons in pon which the bride and groom will kneel furing the ceremony.

The bride will enter the church walking with her father, followed by her pages and maids. She will wear a gown of heavy white satin brocade, the godet skirt made perfectly plain, falling from the waist in the graceful sweep of the long court train. The bodice is cut high, very long on the shoulders, which are edged with a dainty frilling of chiffon, the high folded collar edged with the same. The immense gigot sleeves extend to the wrist, the severity of this simple but exquisite gown being releved by a loosely rolled girdle of white silk chiffon, caught on either side of the waist by diamond buckles. The long veil of white tulle will envelop and soften the whole, caught in place by pearl pins, and she will carry in her hand the white prayer-book which was used by her mother at her marriage, with a bunch of white violets caught between the leaves to mark the marriage service.

book which was used by her mother at her marriage, with a hunch of white violets caught between the leaves to mark the marriage service.

The maid of honer will wear a gown of white satin, the full skirt cut dancing length, the bodice round in the neck and veiled with white chiffon, full draped sleeves of the same, and she will carry a Russian garland of lilles of the valley.

The bridemaids will be gowned in white Parls organdy over slips of white satin, the bodice cut square in the neck, and long on the shoulders with half sleeves, finished about the edge of the neck, and sleeves with a dainty shirring of the organdy, with shoulder knots of purple violets, and they carry Russian garlands of the same fragrant blossom. The little ring bearer will wear a page's costume of pure white satin with frills of point lace, and carry the wedding ring upon a cushion of white violets. Little Richard Buel and his companion page will be dressed alike in miniature full dress suits of black.

After the ceremony at the church a reception will take place at the handsome residence of the bride, 1919 South Grand avenue, from 7 to 9:30 o'clock. The reception rooms which embrace the whole lower floor, will be decked with groups of palms, the mantels and window seats banked with masses of Parma violets shedding their exquisite fragrance everywhere, while the bride and groom will stand beneath a bower made of violets, maiden-hair ferns and smilax, while receiving the congratulations of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammett will leave to-morrow morning for St. Augustine, Fla., where they will spend a month, and upon their return-te St. Louis will remain at 1919 South Grand avenue until spring, when they will take possession of their fremain at 1919 South Grand avenue until spring, when they will take possession of their reception by summer.

Ashby-Loler.

Ashby-Loler.

Another very pretty wedding will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock, the bride, Miss Anna Elizabeth Loler, being the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Loler of 2137 St. Louis avenue, and the bridegroom, Mr. Joseph Le Barge Ashby.

The bride is a very handsome girl and has lived in this city all of her life, but since her return from school in Virigina she has not entered actively into the gayeties of social life, on account of the serious and prolonged illness of her father, who was for many years a well-known business man of St. Louis until forced by ill-health to retire.

prolonged illness of her father, who was for many vears a well-known business man of St. Louis until forced by ill-health to retire.

The ceremony will to all lace at the Catholic Church of the S-cred Heart, Rev. Fr. James Kinkaid officiating.

The altar will be brilliantly illuminated by the multitude of wax lights, which make a Catholic Church ceremony so beautiful, the railing about the chancel wreathed with ferns and smilax and tied with yellow ribbons, clusters of growing palms on either side of the steps which lead to the altar.

The bride will enter the church as the organs breathe forth the first notes of Mendelsohn's beautiful wedding march, her maid of honor, Miss Terese Lyons of St. Paul, her most intimate school friend, leading her by the hand, the bridemaids following single file in the same aisle, while the groomsmen enter by the opposite aisle, meeting the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. T. Edward Flannigan. The bridemaids will be Miss Agnes Brislin and Miss Katherine Cleary, the groomsmen being Mr. William L. Nicholis and Mr. P. B. Fauk. The bride, who is petite, with an exquisite figure, will be gowned in a handsome robe of ivory-tinted duchesse satin, the skirt out-lined with a tiny tucked edge of the satin. The bodice is round in the neck, with pointed back and front, laced in the back and edged about the round neck and pointed waist with a pointed edge of pearl passementerie, epaulettes of point de Venise lace, arranged over the shoulders, which are cut long, after the fashion of our grand-mothers and falling over the shoulders, which are met at the el-bow by the long undressed kid gloves. Her veil of white illusion will be confined to the dark hair with pearl pins and her only ornament will be a sunburst of pearls set in the center with a diamond of the first water, which will be worn about the neck suspended by a small gold chain, the sift of the bridegroom. She will carry a bouquet of Augusta Kaserin roses, fringed with Narcissus.

The maid of honor and bridemaids will be gowned alike, t se friends will be present during the ny, which will be performed by Revy Martin, pastor of the First Preaby-Church.

Seremony will take place in the large, hioned parlor, which will be prettily a with potted palms and wreaths of for the occasion. The provide will be attended by her sister, dith R. Love, as bridemaid, there of maid of honor, and Mr. Will Hudel officiate as the groom's best man. The will wear a pretty but simple white slik, cut hish, with garnitura, and will carry bride's roses, survivib maiden-hair ferns. The growth of pale-blue slik, the skirt fitting of pale-blue slik, the skirt fitting over the hips, arranged over at the back, and falling in straight.

BUILDING CONTRACTS.

A Large Number Let for This

The present year promises to be one of unprecedented advancement for the real estate interests of the city, and real estate values should advance this year as they have never advanced before. There are three important agents at work to bring about the enhancement of local real estate values and these causes are stronger than they have been for some years. They are public street improvements, of which there will be a great amount during the year, private improvements in the way of handsome new homes, and a rapidly increasing population who demand more homes.

Then there is an abundance of cheap money on the market and the interest rates are still decreasing so that every possible inducement is offered the real estate speculator or investor.

With reference to the public street improvements to be made during the year, they reach away beyond the million-dollar mark. The building improvements to be made during the spring and early summer are far more numerous than ever before in the history of the city.

President Thomas J. Ward of the Builders' Exchange, in discussing the outlook for spring building, said: "There is more work on the market this spring than ever before in my experience. And the work is of a good class. The builders are rapidly closing contracts for work enough to keep them busy until late in the fall, and it will be but a short time until the prices of building will be advanced. At present building can be done for from B to 20 per cent less than it could be two years ago, and this is one reason why there is so much work on the market. The public are not slow to find out these things and to take advantage of them. The price of material remains about the same, but there is very close figuring on the part of contractors, and labor is cheaper than it was. If a man can build a house that would have cost him $6.00 two years ago for $4,000 to-day he is pretty apt to do it. The building season will commence within a week or so if the present weather continues, and from that time on skilled labor in the building line will have plenty of work to-do."

Mr. John W. O'Connell, another member of the Builders' Exchange, said he had contracted for more work thus far this season than he did in a whole season before and that as yet but a small portion of the work on the market had been let.

The new 4 per cent thirty-year bonds are offered by the Rothschild-organ syndicate at 1124an advance of 7% points over the cost price, which was 104%. The London price is 113.50. At this advance the syndicate will make about $5,000,000 In addition to the profits in the sale purchasers of the bonds will be charged three-fourths of one per cent commission which will bring another $500,000 to the coffers of the signing syndicate.

But the selling price of the syndical does not absorb all the profits of the bond deal. The underwriters will be able to resell at a substantial advance, probable not less than 119, which is a fair price for 4 per cent thirty-year bonds on a basis of 3 per cent. If the people had suffered this enorme would be tolerable. They could bear it with patience. But, as a matter of fact, it was a private dicker between the President and his Secretary of the Treasury on one side and the representatives of the gold syndicate and the President's former law partner on the other. RING-RIDDEN PHILADELPHIA.

Charles F. Warwick, Republican and ing candidate for Mayor of Philadelphia. vas elected yesterday over ex-Gov. Pattison, candidate of the Democrats and non-partisan reformers, by a majority of

The result shows how hard it is for the Republican party to free itself from its corrupt masters.

Mr. Warwick was supported by the Re publican machine and the corrupt ring which has "run" Quaker City politics for so many years. His nomination was dictated by the notorious "Dave" Martin Matt Quay's "man"-the Dave Martin who was taken to New York in 1892 by the Republican National Committee to teach the party there how to carry elections in the face of adverse majorities Mr. Warwick was also supported by the franchise grabbing corporations which have furnished the sinews of war to the Republicans in many a hot campaign and by all the Republican newspapers which dared not dared not go counter to the man-

Gov. Pattison, on the other hand, re ceived the support of the Democratic press, of the Reform organization of citizens and the independent and honest voters who care more for political decency than for political badges. He was pledge ed to fight the corrupt ring and deliver the city from the hands of one of the worst gang of thleves ever known in American in hielpal politics.

The contrast between this lamentable failure to destroy rascallty and the signal success attending the fight in New York against Tammany and that in Buffalo against the Sheehan machine is striking and significant. In New York all the Democratic papers, led by the World, fought Tammany with even more energy than did the Republican partisan press Decent Democrats abandoned the Croker machine and worked side by side with the Republicans for a purification of the City government, which had become as rotten under Croker as it was in the days of Tweed. And, in spite of the odds against them they drove the rascals from the City Hall and established an honest and capa-ole government. The contrast tells the story. The re form movement in municipal politics, begun in New York and Buffalo, both Democratic cities, was checked in Philadel phia, which has always been Republican The Democrats of New York and Buffalo overthrew corruption at the cost of party defeat, but the Republicans of Philadel phia are joined to their idol. The result points to a marked difference between the two parties. RELIEF BY PETITION.

An excellent method of getting at the bridge arbitrary is suggested by Congressman Forman of Illinois, who advises the people of St. Louis to seek relief by appealing to the Intersta Commerce Commission.

There can be no question but that the mmerce of the Eads and Merchants' bridges is within the jurisdiction of this ommission, or that it has ample power o Shvestigate and fix the rates. Connecting two States, the Legislature of either State has full power over the bridges, and they fall properly under Federal authority. The appeal to the Interstate Commerce ommission need not interfere with the lan to build a third bridge, or the action of either the Illinois or Missouri Legislaor any other measure that may be tempted. But it commends itself as n casy method and one that promises the quickest relief. The abolition of the bridge arbitrary s of vital importance to the commercial terests of St. Louis and is in the line of the work assumed by the Business Means League. The Transportation Bu-reau of this organization may do valuable service by making complaint to the Interstate Commerce Commission and supplying that body with the information required for a just conclusion. THE "NIGGER" IN THE WOODPILE.

The Democratic majority of the State Senate should carefully inspect that Watermelon Inspector bill which the Republican majority of the House has Should the office of Watermelon Inspe tor be created the incumbent would be empowered to test all waterme ought to the market. The usual method of determining whether a watermelon is green or ripe is to thump and press it. If it gives out a hollow and cracking sound it is ripe. But this will hardly suffice for an official test. The inspector will feel impelled by his responsibilities to plug and taste and take samples of each lot of watermelons. He will need a force of tasters and will have a large stock of sample watermelons on hand. The Republicans are hoping to carry the State of Missouri in the next election Boss Filley is nursing all factions and is reaching out for floating votes. He kno that there is a coldness among the colors voters and that they complain of a dearth of spoils. He is a cunning politi has baited his silk-stocking hook with boar's head and proposes to halt the darkey hook with watermelon. The dimmest prospect of Republican success with free watermelons in the vista will start the colored voters on such a precipitate rush for the polls that an army could not stop them. Besides all these natural advantages St. Louis has superior rail facilities for reaching all parts of our southern neighbor's territory opened to trade, penetrat ing as they do to the centers of Mexican activity more easily and quickly than any of her competitors. And we can supply on demand most of the commodities wanted. In short, nature and circumstances have conspired to place this city in a commanding position with reference to this business.

The value of the trade can hardly be verestimated, for Mexico has passed the stationary stage and entered upon s progressive career as a commercial nation. If St. Louis business men bring into active employment their characteristic oush, energy and intelligence they may look forward confidently to acquiring the lion's share of this great and ever increasing trade. Senator Gray was not very happy in his defense of the Administration's bond Nobody denies that the President is under obligation to maintain the parity of gold and silver, nor has his authority to issue bonds under the law been eriously questioned. But he was not obliged to countenance a bear raid on th Government credit for the benefit of an international syndicate of shylocks and needlessly submit to extortion. What nator Gray said was probably true, but it did not touch the real question at issue

The strength of silver sentiment in the Senate was forcibly shown by the ease with which the silver men compelled th consideration of the free coinage bill. This sentiment is strong in the House and is stronger among the people. It is teadily gaining strength in Europe. . The people are crying out against the oppression of the gold ring and it must be brought to a speedy end. In this campaign of freedom the United States must ssume vigorous leadership.

Mr. McKinley's oracular remark that "the outflow of gold need not disturb us the inflow of gold is large enough" would be more comforting if the outflow and inflow were not controlled by a gang of financial sharks who hesitate at nothing when there is a large profit in sight.

Alonzo Tubbs ought not, perhaps, to be abused because of his economical schemes. They may seem miserly, but from the extortionate rates of the bridge when anything like economy in government appears in the Republican party should not be without a little encourage ment.

Mr. Sherman is right in saying that the gold bond contract will not ruin or break the United States. And this fact make it all the more clear that the bonds should have sold on better terms. No bonds are safer than ours.

The six clergymen in the West Vir ginia Legislature voted to make Stephen B. Elkins a United States Senator. Six clergymen may make Mr. Elkins a Senator, but they will never make him his party as he seems; or he may have thought his appearance in the role of reformer would be so ridiculous that it Mr. Filley's branch of the Legislature is not without its good point. It is serving as a warning to the people as to what they must expect if Mr. Filley ever captures both branches.

The Republican leaders are still indifferent to the golden opportunity they would have to correct all their financial errors. Not a man of them yearns for an

Miss Nethersole as Gilberte Adds to Her

Miss Olga Nethersole appeared in Frou" at the Grand last night and, if any thing, (leepened the impression of her artis tic worth in the natural comparison of her portrayals of Camille and Gilberte.

She first made her appearance last night with her copper colored hair massed in long ringlets about her handsome face. These ringlets were not becoming, but they gave her an opportunity to shake them about her head in the spolled, frivolous way such young girls as Frou Frou are supposed to do. In the first two acts she was all that was light and airy and silly. She giggled and snickered, jumped onto sofas, sat on her feet and obeyed the dictates of her own idle will to her heart's content. There was much of pretty by-play by Miss Nethersole in all this and when in the third act there came the change from the heartless, thoughtless girl to the thinking woman the contrast was indeed powerful.

the neartiess, thoughtless girl to the thinking woman the contrast was indeed powerful.

It showed the versatility of the actress, but she did not allow herself to lose entirely the old manner. There came a gleam of the frivolous character every now and then, the spoiled peevish whine in the voice or the silly laugh growing harsher manifestly by the impending tragedy.

The scene where Gilberte accuses her sister of loving Sarttorys was one in which Miss Nethersole displayed marked power, but it was almost too violent. The scene where Sartorys comes to Gilberte in Venica after she has abandoned him for Vaireas was characterized by intense dramatic feeling, but the climax of her art was not reached until the last act, where, dishonored and dying, she returns to her old home and her child. Her face was so death-like in its expression, her eyes so weird, her voice so feeble, with the warning note of death evident in its whispered cadences, that those who saw and heard it all, shuddered and wept. The house was so still that the sobs of women could be heard despite the efforts to suppress them, and even the men were using their handkerchiefs freely.

The whole picture was vivid to almost a disagreeable degree and reflected oredit not only upon the star, but also upon her leading man. Mr. Barrymore really did far chiefs freely.

The whole picture was vivid to almost a disagreeable degree and reflected credit not only upon the star, but also upon her leading man. Mr. Barrymore really did far better as Sartorys than as Duval. It is difficult for a man to sob in mimic grief and get the true ring, but Mr. Barrymore succeeded admirably. In the earlier near succeeded admirably. In the earlier part of the piece his unsympathetic voice was a marring feature and at times his tendency to affectation was disagreeable.

The proposed council would have more members than either house has now, and individual responsibility would be lessened. To-day we can fix the responsibility for the enactment of a given measure on seven (generally fewer) Councilmen. But we could not call seven to account for the action of a majority of a body of fixy. The size of the proposed council would also seem to involve a membership of a character inferior to that of an assembly made up as ours is now. In brief, the proposed change would make hossism and corruption easier, would cure no present evil, but would rather intensify some that are well nigh unendurable now. Corporation Legislators.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We have a "reform" Legislature in session, but about the only thing it so far has done was to reform itself into a committee of corporation servants, animated beer barrels and iong-eared snolligosters. Instead of giving the people the sought-for relief from vicious and burdensome taxation, the vast majority of reformers have spent valuable time in wrangling over who should, and should not play base ball on Sunday, or who should, and who should not smoke cigarettes.

Introducing bills with the object of raising the wind is another way of pleasantly spending the cold days at the public freside but to pay attention to and pass the bill for the taxation of franchises is a horse of another color and quite beyond the horizon and conception of our lawmakers—because there is something in it for the people.

than that which he gave for the bond, is also dishonest.

The value of money consists in its pur-chasing power. The purchasing power, or value of the gold dollar is more than double what it was when the bonds were first sold, and still the bondholders and their attor-neys in the Senate, demand that its value shall be still further enhanced, by "wiping challed the preschades and treasury notes." and that was the reason she promptly abdicated.

Faulkner says the schooner Wahlburg and other vessels landed 1,500 rifles and 1,000 pistols, of which, up to the last advices, less than one-third had been found, and he prophesies that the remainder will be kept for future insurrectionary uses. He further declares that the bounds found in the building near Washington place were intended to be thrown into the police station and military barracks and not for the purpose of destroying the hurch as previously reported. Among the Royalists, of which he is a member, Spreckles was regarded as strongly in sympathy.

The Pail Mail Gazette this afternoon says the success of the loan is a tribute to the power of Messrs. Rothschild and a mark of confidence in the great wealth and financial stability of the United States.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Mesars. August Belmont & Co. and J. P. Morgan & Co., the managers of the bond syndicate, closed the subscription list for the new 4 per cent bonds at 10:20 o'clock, the amount having been subscribed for many times over.

Gold to the amount of $100,000 was received from Canada to-day.

A private dispatch from London says the new American loan is quoted at 4 per cent premium in London. This is reckoned on the syndicate price of 113%.

SETTLED FOR THE SESSION.

Its Own Friends Sidetrack the Jones Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20. Jones withdrew his silver bill in the Senate to-day, in the interest of the appropriation to-day, in the interest of the appropriation bills. The Wolcott resolution, brought forward last evening, was not presented. Both go to the calendar. On taking the floor, Senator Jones said:

"The friends of the regular order, the silver bill, have no wish to risk the danger of an extra session of Congress. They so stated at the outset of the discussion. Events have shown that this danger might be incurred, and that the great appropriation bills might be put in jeopardy. For that reason, the friends of the silver bill have authorized me to say that it will not be further pressed at the present session of Congress."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—The end of financial legislation has been reached in the Senate for the present Congress. At 2 o'clock yesterday, by a vote of the silver men, the free colnage resolution was taken up and the silver men declared they would continue consideration of it until a vote was reached if it took a twenty-four hours' session. Yet long before midnight there came from that side the proposition to lay aside the free colnage resolution, on the ground that at this late day in the session it was not expedient to take up time and jeopardize the appropriation bills.

The sudden change of mind among the silver men in the Senate is explained in this way: It came about through a conference. Some of the wiser silver Senators suggested that the passage of the free colnage resolution at this time might endanger the international monetary conference proposed by Germany. They argued that if the Senate of the United States should at this critical that the passage of the free colleger the international monetary conference proposed by Germany. They argued that if the Senate of the United States should at this critical juncture declare for free colinage by a decisive vote, the European powers might think it would be better for them to wait a while and see this country struggle alone with the problem. If, on the other hand, the question was left unsettled and without the prospect of settlement the effect would be to hasten action by other countries. This view impressed the more ardent silver men, and as the day wore on it was agreed by common consent to give up the idea of a vote on free colnage in this Congress. The speech of Senator Vilas last night illustrates the bad plight in which the administration is placed even among Mr. Cleveland's staunchest adherents. The Wisconsin Senator took up personal charges that had been made against the Administration. One of these was that Mr. Stetson, formerly a law partner of President Clever. from the second of these was the contract. Mr. Vilas said Mr. Stetson was the legal adviser of the Morgan Banking House, and as such had passed on the contract and signed it as a witness. The Senator said it was lamentable that such slanders should be brought into a debate dealing with great advisor of the Morgan Banking House, and as such had passed on the contract and signed it as a witness. The Senator said it was lamentable that such slanders should be brought into a debate dealing with great names. Mr. Vilas also repelled the statement of Mr. Lodge that the bond contract was the "blackest page" in our financial history. At most, it was but a matter of unwisdom, and in no sense was it black. A sharp colloquy occurred between Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Vilas during the latter's speech. Mr. Aldrich said the recent bonds could have been sold at 10 per cent. above what they brought.

"If the Senator had stood at one end of a cable, as the Secretary of the Treasury stood," said Mr. Vilas, "and had for days solicited all the great money centers of the world for, their terms on our bonds, he would not make such a statement."

Mr. Aldrich said that if he had the resources available in the Treasury and yet had to pay 1 per cent. premium on bonds he would "go out of business."

"It is singular fact," said Mr. Vilas, addressing Mr. Aldrich, that the ablest men are not the ones employed to discharge the great transactions of the Government."

Mr. Jones said he was willing to fix the hour for voting at any time to-morrow, the opponents of the bill to fix the time.

Mr. Platt said that the Senator in charge of the bill was going to extremes in trying to "sit it out" the first night.

Then came the vote to go into executive session, on Mr. Aldrich's motion, which showed the absence of a quorum and side-tracked the silver bill for the time at least.

The galieries had filled during the evening, and the spectators were evidently much interested in the proceedings going on below.

Resolved. That in view of the fact that the Cot gress will expire by law March 4, and that there are important appropriation bills requiring the aftestion of the Senate, it is the sense of the Secate that a consideration of such a law be not extered upon at this session of Congress.

Mr. Jones asked that the resolution lie over. Then he added, somewhat wearily. "I move that the Senate now adjourn."

This was the signal for the close of the contest and the silver bill was left on the side track.

SHORT TIME BONDS.

Should the Treasury Have Authority to Issue Them.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Secretary Carlisle to day sent a reply to the Senate resolution inquiring whether "it is necessary or desirable that legislation should be had authorizing the issuing of bonds. Treasury notes, or other securities to realize moneys for the purpose of paying current deficiencies in the revenue." The Secretary says he does not consider such authority now necessary. His communication is as follows:

clusive of $55,101.704 gold reserve, was $99,-875,284.

"It is my opinion that the Secretary of the Treasury ought to be permanently invested with the authority to issue and sell short time bonds or other obligations of the Government for the purpose of raising money to meet deficiencies in the ordinary revenues as may occur from time towing: but is do not think that there is any necessity at the present time for the exercise of such authority if it existed. It is not probable that such deficiencies will occur during the remainder of the current fiscal year, as will exceed the available balance on hand and it is estimated that during the next fiscal year the receipts will exceed the expenditures."

providing for an issue of certificates of indebtedness.

Many Senators who have given their assent to the amendment have stated from the beginning that they were agreed to the proposition only upon the direct request of the Secretary for such action.
This has been especially true of the silver Senators. Senator Teller has been one of the most conservative of silver men on this proposition but he is understood to have voted against it in committee because there had been no declaration from the Treasury Department that the certificates were needed. It is understood that the amendment was put forward in the idea that it was liable to be ruled out on a point of order in the Senate and that if it passed that body it would fail in the House.

MR. HIGGINS OBJECTS.

He Says the Wolcott Silver Resolution Is Meaningless.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—After the disposition of the Jones silver bill by laying it over for the session, the Senate presiding officer presented the Wolcott silver resolution coming over from last night, declaratory in favor of silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1, but stating that it was inexpedient at this late day in the session to take up the silver bill. Mr. Call sought to take up the Indian appropriation bill, but it was cut off by the objection of Mr. Butier (S. C.), in charge of the pooling bill. A bill was passed granting the railroad companies additional powers to secure rights of way, etc., in the Indian Territory.

Mr. Higgins then addressed the Senate on the Wolcott resolution. He urged that it was meaningless and could effect nothing. It would not receive executive approval even if it went through Congress. He said the repeal of the Sherman law was notice to the world that the United States would no longer be the patient ass to bear the burden of silver.

longer be the patient ass to bear the burden of silver.

At 12 o'clock the hour of unfinished business arrived, and a sharp controversy arose as to the precedence of various bills. The Wolcott resolution under the rules went to the calendar. Mr. Gorman appealed to Senators to stop the fruitless discussion on the pending Wolcott resolution and to take up the appropriation bills which were demanding attention, if it was hoped to pass them. He moved to take up the Indian appropriation. Mr. Butler, in charge of the pooling bill, objected and demanded a roll call. The motion prevailed, 55 to 12. motion prevailed, 55 to 12.

The effect of the vote was to displace the silver bill as the unfinished business and to send it back to the calendar. The vote against the Indian appropriation bill was not a test of strength of the pooling bill, as many friends of that measure voted to consider the Indian bill.

many friends of that its sider the Indian bill.

The negative vote was: Blanchard, Butler, Camden, Cameron, Faulkner, Hunton, Jones (Ark.), Lindsay, Mills, Mitchell (Wis.), Quay and Wolcott—12.

NEW HAMPTON, Io., Feb. 20.—The decision of the Collector of Internal Reyenue for this district that co-operative creameries are subject to the provisions of the new income tax law has caused a surprise in this section, where creameries are almost as numerous as school-houses. The officers find it aimost impossible to make the required reports. The milk is gathered from house to house, among the members, taken to the factory, made into butter, and sold. The entire receipts, less the cost of manufacture, are divided pro rata among those furnishing the milk. There is no market value of milk at the farms here, except that made by its sale as butter after it leaves the creamery. NEW HAMPTON, Io., Feb. 20.-The decis

story of the Horrible Butcheries in Asia | The Entire Democratic Ticket Snowe

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 20.—An account written by a native of the Sassoun district who was an eye-witness of Mooshir Pasha's "march of blood," has just been received from Moosh, Asia Minor. Mooshir Pasha is military Governor of the City of Erzenjan, and the visit he made into the Sassoun district, in which 7,280 people were killed and innumerable villages burned, was by order of the Sultan.

and the visit he made into the Sassoun district, in which 7.285 people were killed and innumerable villages burned, was by order of the Suitan.

The account received from Moosh, Asia Minor, is under date of Jan. 7 and states that of people known to have been killed Mooshir Pasha destroyed nearly 7,500 lives in the four towns he visited, and how many more may have perished is not known.

The first town entered was Shinik. It contains four villages—Shinik, Mezra, Koojook and Dopy. Father Johannis, with forty of the leading townsmen, went to meet Mooshir Pasha to beseech him to have mercy upon them. They were surrounded by soldiers before they could get to him and every one was killed. Then the soldiers proceeded to burn the villages.

The number killed from Shinik proper numbered 623 and 317 from the rest of the villages. Those who escaped are now in the villages surrounding this town.

Mooshir Pasha left Shinik to go to Alyan, which town has fourteen villages. The people knew that it was useless te appeal to him, so they fied to the village of Chi, where they could better escape him. They stayed in the mountains for almost twenty days, and then fied as best they could. Two thousand bodies were left behind at Chi. Gali-Gazan was next, and because the town has twenty-four villages around it Mooshir brought Kurds, Ahmidie and irregulars numbering 30,000. The people, with all the food they could carry, had fied to the mountains. They stayed in their fastnesses for thirty days, and at last, with a fremay born of hunger and despair, made a terrible rush down the mountain sides and attacked the tyrants, instead of waiting to be killed. Patriot Vartan was like a god and killed nineteen men with his own sword before he fell dead. Fr. Bedras was a soldier, too, and encouraged his children, and when he was at last killed his body was cut in pieces and given to the dogs.

Alpag was the last town that the blood-thirsty tyrant visied, and this place contains seven villages—Verden, Chaden, Mooravar, Eukik, Kalaxas, Choroop and

Not only were there more ballots put into the boxes than ever before, but the itcket in every ward was cut up to such an extent 4s to make the work of tabulating the vote very difficult. In a total vote of 214,477 Charles F. Warwick, the Republican candidate for Mayor, had a plurality of 0,-988 over ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison, the Democratic standard bearer. This is the greatest plurality ever given a candidate in a municipal contest, the previous record being $5,065, received by Edwin S. Stuart in 1891.

Democratic strongholds like the Third, Fourth, Sixth, Eleventh, Twelfth and Seventeenth wards are either against Pattison or giving a very much reduced plurality in his favor. All of these wards are in the Third Congressional District, formerly represented by the late Samuel J. Randall, and the result showd that the McAleer or anti-Harrity Democrats still have the knife out for any candidate whose election is advocated by the National Chairman.

THIN PEOPLE.

How the Weight May Be Increased in a Healthful Natural Manner.

All people who are thin are not necessarily so from disease, it is natural for some to be thin, and no amount of treatment would add an lota to their weight, but the great majority of people are thin because their digestion is not perfect, their stomachs do not thoroughly digest flesh-forming foods, they may not have chronic dyspepsia, but their digestion is not vigorous enough to assimilate the food necessary for robust health and to keep up their weight.

For all such, the new discovery for dyspepsia and indigestion comes as a most welcome addition to the list of meritorious remedies. The new discovery referred to pepsia and indigestion comes as a most welcome addition to the list of meritorious remedies. The new discovery referred to is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is not only a pleasant and certain cure for indigestion, but possesses the peculiar power of digesting flesh-forming foods, like meat, eggs and similar ordinary foods, so that the increase in weight is a perfectly natural process. One grain of the digestive principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of flesh-forming food. Dr. Jennison recently stated that he depends altogether upon these tablets for the cure of dyspepsia and stomach troubles and that they not only cure the indigestion, but in every case a gratifying increase in weight was noticed, not fat, but the proper amount of flesh for health and symmetry. Dr. Harlandson speaks highly of the tablets, not only because they build up flesh and cure indigestion, but they are absolutely safe and harmless, no matter what the condition of the stomach, and are excellent not only for the ordinary dyspeptic but for invalids and children.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at so cents per package, and a trial will convince anyone of their merits.

QUINCHY.

My own name is Guinevere and Quinchy's name is also Guinevere, so-called in my honor; but her mother, old Mimy, the cook, who was never known to speak pleasantly to man, mortal or beast, ruthlessly distorted it beyond recognition.

As for Quinchy herself, she took the utmost pride in it. She had finished the Second Reader, literally wearing the pages, to rags; and had gone through with as many copybooks, and, "I do declar'; Miss Guin," she said, "that when me and yo' names is wroten side by side, nobody can tell tother from which."

My handmailen was presented to me with as much amisbility as old Mimy ever "I brung dis chile to fetch up to suit your own self, Miss Guin," she said. "Lord in heaben know she too superbongical for me to manage."
"But, Miny," I remonstrated, "If she is on superbongical for you, how can I train ter? You know I am not at all well."
"Yes, you kin, Miss Guin. Effen I was "sick, wid books in my han" as a

'scuse for laziness, who gwine cook dinner? Who gwine buss Peter open 'bout his juty? Who gwine beat dem biscuits, marm?' As I was unprepared to answer such knockdown arguments, she proceeded:

"When a pusson name a chile arter a pusson, dat pusson an inspected to give dat ar chile a heap ur things, and dem two pussons to live in brotherly love; inspecial, when de chile am sackaficed to a bodacious com'se name, stiddler Willyanna, ef not Rosybelle, ur Angelline.'

I reluctantly consented to take Quinchy and do my best, as old Mimy was overburdened with children.

"Not but what some folkses' best is a mighty poor do, marm," remarked Mimy, respectfully.

"Wa are all weak creatures," I fired up, resentfully, from among my cushions.

"Thank God, I ain't one o' dem pore sickly creturs, marm," and oft she went.

With Quinchy thus dast on my hands I

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 20.—The removal resolution passed the by the following vote: Ayes, 91; 40. Opponents of the removal proposay it cannot pass the Senate. But if it does the constitution will have to be amended to allow Sedalia and Pettis County to carry out their contract. pecial to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 20.—Soon the opening of the House session Bornwen introduced a joint and concurrent resolution providing for the re-moval of the State capital to Sedalia. He supported it with a strong speech and was ably backed by Col. Crisp, who emphasized the fact of the unhealthfulness of Jefferson City. The body of the resolution contains the terms of Sedalla's offer and is as folthe fact of the unhealthfulness of Jefferson City. The body of the resolution contains the terms of Sedalla's offer and is as follows:

"The seat of government shall be removed from the city of Jefferson and located at the city of Sedalla. Whenever a suitable Capitol building, having the same or greater area and appointments as the present Capitol and Supreme Court buildings and equal thereto in stability and architectural merit, together with grounds of the same or greater area, and an Armory and an Executive Mansion likewise similar or superior to the present building used as the Governor's residence, together with the grounds and appurtenances shall be erected at the city of Sedalla, the same shall be accepted by a commission consisting of the Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer and Attorney General, and such officers shall at once remove the public records and personal property to such new public buildings and the city of Sedalia shall thereupon become the permanent seat of government. The plans and location of the Capitol, Armory and Executive Mansion, and grounds shall first be approved by such commission. The county of Pettis and Sedalia Township in said county may each vote an issue of five-twenty non-taxable 3 per cent bonds not to exceed in amount respectively for each $100,000, and such bonds may be ordered issued by a majority vote of those voting at a special election called for that purpose by the County Court, and conducted generally in the manner provided by law for the issuing of bonds for the erection of Court-houses, Said county and township bonds shall be given to the State for the purpose of assisting in paying for the erection of the buildings provided for berein; and such bonds if voted and issued shall be delivered to the Governor of the State and held by him in trust for the benefit of any person or persons on their completion and acceptance. The commission hereby constituted shall have full power by a majority vote to carry out the provisions and intent of this amendment a Altogether the report is very flattering to State Treasurer Stephens and State Auditor Seibert.

BOGUS BUTTER.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 20.—The Committee on Agriculture reported favorably Davisson's bill against the sale of oleo so colored as to imitate butter made from cream. The committee introduced several amendments, one of which strikes out the section requiring hotel and boarding house keepers to post notices of the fact of their use of imitation butter in their dining rooms. After the committee amendments had been agreed to, Morton moved indefinite postponement of the bill. Lost, ayes, 5; noes, 3.

The Committee on Education reported adversely Klene's bill reorganising the school districts of St. Louis and providing for the election of a president on a salary of $5,000. The bill was tabled.

Orthard's pure food bill, requiring all packages of drugs and food to be labeled with the name and proportions of the ingredients, was opposed by Senator Morrissey, and Mott, on the ground that it would steal the trade secrets and destroy the business of St. Louis manufacturers of articles of food. Morrissey's amendment striking out the provision for publication of ingredients was agreed to.

THE MARKETS.

WT. LOUIS, Feb. 20, 1895.

The Buenos Ayres Standard says the quality and quantity of the Argentine wheat crop is inferior to lost year, and the heavy rains causing coronous dausages. Could any reliance be placed on the estimates, it would be found the exportable surplys is not more than half of last year's. It is stated that one of the leading Greek receivers, who had advices from all parts of the republic, thought the crop of 1895 would show a shrinkage of 25 per cent compared with 1896.

Not of the leading Greek receivers, who had advices from all parts of the republic, thought the crop of 1895 would show a shrinkage of 25 per cent compared with 1896.

Not of the leading Greek receivers, who had advices from the country correspondents state they have not beard of any injury. And cast every commission house with country correspondents state they have not beard of any injury. And cast can be determined, all right. The few advices so far received on the crop indicate the plant came out from under the snow and lee in good shape.

The London Miller reports wheat exports to Europe in January as 9,020,000 but for the United States, 8,032,000 from Russia, 1,132,000 from Australia, a total of 20,620,000 bu, against 20,043,600 but for same month in 1894.

A Kanass City man states that the Fosterio (0.) Milling Co. is trying to buy wheat in this market, and the price bid is so close to the market that a trade for a large amount will probably be made.

The larger wheat receipts in here to-day are said to be due to a lot of wheat bought by a St. Louis miller from a lot held by a country elevator located on the Missourl Pacific. Of the 10,500 but in, 11 cars came in on that road.

The smallest supply of hogs in this country since 1895 was 25, 728,809 in 1876. The largest supply was 52,308,019 in 1892. Since then there has been a falling off of 8,000,000 head.

Argentine wheat for Feb-March shipment is quoted in London at 64½c per bu. This is about 7c higher than the lowest price it touched last season.

The Liverpool Corn Trade News estimates four stocks in the United Kingdom as about 380,000 sks less than one year ago.

A Liverpool cable reports wheat id lower on large offerings Argentine wheat for April and May shipment.

A Tennessee miller writes that he expects to buy his wheat in St. Louis until the next crop is harvested.

The last estimates from India indicate a fairly good crop on a reduced acreage.

A London cable reports resellers offering wheat at less money than America.

Cables reporting serious damage to the French wheat crop are said to have been received at New York. A cable from Abel Rey of Paris to John Millisen states that cold moderating, damage feared in some districts, but too early to give an opinion. Market shade farmer.

No session of the Merchants Exchange on Friday. Washington's Birthday.

An East Side private elevator reports increased farmers' deliveries of wheat by wagon, the amount coming in averaging about 1,000 bu. delly.

A milling company of Marshall. Mo., writes that some slight complaints heard about condition of growing wheat, but not chough fo count. The prices for wheat in that section approach very near those of St. Louis, and the country mills bidding very strong for the wheat.

CITY NEWS.

Private matters skillfully treated and addicines furnished. Dr. Dinsbeer, 84 Pine. A POVERTY PARTY.

North End.

A unique entertainment, called a poverty party, was given by the Y. P. S. C. E. of the North Presbyterian Church, corner of Tenth and Chambers streets, Tuesday night. It was for the benefit of the poor, and all attendants were supposed to wear their old clothes as a gentle reminder of how it seems to be poor, Donations of clothing, money, etc. were received to be distributed to the needy of the parish. About 150 people were present, one-third of whom conformed to the rules in regard to dress. Nothing approaching a masquerade was indulged in, but called dresses, aprone, old coats and colored skirts were in order. The programme consisted of recitations, solos and music, after which refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served free. The donations amounted to 3s in money and thirty-five large bundles of clothing, which will be a great acquisition to the relief committee. A thoroughly enjoyable time was had and the credit is entirely due the young people.

Among the prominent turfmen who are scheduled to race here this year for the first time are Gottfried Walbaum of Guttenberg fame, J. W. Rodgers, who owned an interest in Lamplighter when he was sold to Pierre Lorillard; Jacob Ruppert, Jr., the millionaire New York brewer; Adolph B. Spreckles, son of the sugar king, Claus Spreckles; Bob Rose, the plunging bookmaker, who owns Clifford; Charles H. Smith, the Chicago Board of Trade high roller, and Fleischmann & Son, the Clincinnati millionaire horse owners who bought Ray S. from Cahn & Sohn last year. Walbaum is known as the Duke of Guttenburg and Prince of Hoboken. He was one of the celebrated Guttenburg big four and is reputed to own a controlling interest in the Saratogs track. He furnishes bankrolls for numerous bookmakers, and his stable includes Lamplighter, Plutus, Potentate, The Ironmaster and other stars.

J. W. Rodgers owns Dorian and Sir Excess, in addition to which he will train the great Clifford for Bob Rose. Rodgers was furnerly in partnership with Capt. Sam Brown, the Pittsburg millionaire, and together they owned Lamplighter, Dally America and other racing stars.

Rose was in partnership with Eugene Leigh last season, the pair owning Clifford, Ducat, Lazzarone, Chant, Handspun and Urania.

Ruppert's stable is handled by Johnny Camphell who used to be in partnership.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PANTS.

The Local Branch on Pine Street Has Closed Its Doors.

Do you wear pants?

If you do you will be obliged to go somewhere else to get them than at the Plymouth Rock Pants Co., the concern which has made this question so famous. The doors of their tailoring shop at 615 Pine street are tightly closed and the place deserted. This step was taken yesterday in response to instructions from the head office in Boston, which has gone into the hands of a receiver. There is no sign or notice of any kind posted about, giving the reason for the suspension in business, and numerous inquiries are being made by creditors and others concerning it.

ing made by creditors and others concerning it.

The manager of the local branch of the company is Herbert J. McGinnitte. He has only been in charge since the middle of January, taking the place of Emil Habermas.

The cause of the main office suspending business is unknown, but there seems to have been some peculiar business methods used in connection with it, so peculiar, in fact, that one man has been arrested.

According to telegraphic dispatches, the main office of the pants company recently drew a number of checks on the Beacon Trust Co. of Boston and sent them out over the country with their traveling anditors. In some places the auditors got the checks cashed and, through the local managers, rushed the money on to Boston. It was soon learned that the company had been put into the hands of a receiver.

F. J. Toy, the auditor who operated in Atlanta, Ga., has been arrested at Nashville, Tenn., and will be taken back to Atlanta. He succeeded in having checks to the extent of $2,000 cashed in that city, ordering his subordinate, the local manager, to indorse them.

It is said that similar transactions took them.

It is said that similar transactions took place in other Southern cities. Most of the local concerns in various parts of the country have taken out attachments against the parent concern to protect their interests.

So far as is known, none of the company's paper was negotiated here.

WANTED ROOM 808.

He Had a Habit of Entering the Wrong Apartment.

A man walked up to the counter in the Planters' Hotel last evening and, after in-Planters' Hotel last evening and, after inscribing his name upon the register, asked Clerk Cunningham if he could conveniently assign him to room 808. Upon being informed that the above room was at his disposal the stranger secund so greatly relieved that Mr. Cunningham ventured to inquire why it was that he preferred that room to any other, as there was nothing about it to distinguish it from at least a dozen other apartments in the house.

"I am almost ashamed to tell you," replied the new arrival, "as in doing so I will have to confess a certain weakness; but as you are liable to find it out yourself sconer or later I might as well tell you myself.

"The truth of the matter is I am a very hard drinker and often take more than is good for me. Whenever I get to a certain stage of intoxication my eyesight goes back on me—that is, I cannot readily distinguish letters and figures. On several occasions I have found myself in rather embarrassing positions by getting into the wrong rooms in the hotels where I have stopped. The rumbers on the doors would appear all mixed up to me and in consequence I would have to depend on my memory as to the location of my room, which, when my mind is befuddled, is not apt to be very correct. At last I have hit upon this plan, which I find works splendidly. I always secure room 808 if possible, for you see the numbers read the same upside down, backward or forward. In fact, no matter how you look at them or how twisted your eyes may be you can't help but read them all right."

TWO SHOE THIEVES

An Exciting Chase and Capture on Franklin Avenue.

George T. Dittman, the wholesale shoe merchant at Eighth and Locust streets, had some boxes of shoes on his sidewalk this morning ready for shipment. Two negroes it open and removed the contents to a sack they carried.

Officers Bartley and Quinlivan of the Third District shortly afterwards saw the negroes in an alley near Eleventh and Franklin avenue. They gave chase, and for a time that thoroughfare saw some excitement. Two shots were fired by the officers without effect, but one prisoner was finally captured. He gave his name as Fred Wright. He still clung to the sack, which contained ten pairs of the stolen shees. His companion has not yet been captured.

ARRESTED FOR SPITE.

Idward Moran Claims Officer Thompso

Had No Charge Against Him. In the Second District Police Court this morning Edward Moran was up for throw-ing rocks at a horse. Officer Thompson, who arrested the young man, was the only witness for the prosecution and swore he saw ness for the prosecution and swore he saw Moran throwing rocks at the horse for twenty minutes. Moran then showed by several witnesses that he was not in the neighborhood of the place where the offence was said to have been committed and that he was arrested from spite work.

Moran was discharged and as he was leaving the court Officer Thompson said to him, "Well, never mind, I'll have you up again before night." On the outside of the court the policeman became more abusive and re-before night. On the outside of the court the policeman became more abusive and re-newed his threats to land Moran behind the bars before the day was over. Moran says he has never done anything for which he can be arrested, but thinks the officer will carry out his threat.

CLINE CAMERON GETTING WELL.

Will Soon Be Transferred to a Cell in the Cline Cameron, the young man who attempted to murder his wife at the Female Hospital on last Sunday and then turned the pistol on himself with suicidal intent, has so far recovered from his wounds as to permit his being transferred from the City Hospital to the Four Courts in a day or two.

Mrs. Cameron, his wife, is still at the Female Hospital, and her physicians say that, while she is not out of danger, she is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.
